PARENT INVOLVEMENT ACTIVITY Talk with children about what is important to them and what they would like to be able to do and become. Goal setting is most effective when children are involved. Discuss the internal and external rewards of reaching a goal.Use a few of the following conversation starters to begin a discussion with your child about aspirations: #Tell me about something you are good at. #What did you do to become good at it? #How long did it take? #What is something you would like to be better at? #Why is this goal important to you? Then, talk about the child's dreams and how self-regulation and effort might help your child meet a chosen goal.Once the child has a clear goal in mind, listen and talk about strategies for achieving the goal. Discuss small, manageable steps, and then make a plan together to implement them. Celebrate the child's success by ceremoniously awarding the predetermined reward, which could be a small item or game, a special trip or activity, a special treat or dessert, an outing with a friend, or anything that is rewarding to the child, when the goal is met.
